This medium length novel was complete fun all the way through. It was the September pick of my 2018 challenge to read one book a month from the TBR lists I compile each year. If you have followed my reviews for a while you know that I have loved all four previous novels I have read by Lydia Millet. Mermaids in Paradise was no exception.

Mermaids in Paradise by Lydia Millet - Goodreads

"I tend to laugh out loud while writing," Millet says, "which makes me seem insane because I usually write in public places. I laugh as I read, too." If this sounds unlikely, it's only because you haven't read Millet's new novel, Mermaids in Paradise. Not LOLing while doing so is a bit of a challenge.

A Caribbean honeymoon turns into a media circus over a mermaid sighting in this laser-focused satire from Millet (Magnificence, 2012, etc.). Deborah, the narrator of Millet's smart and funny novel, her ninth, is an LA woman who's snarky to the core: She's skeptical of her fiancé's hard-core workout regimen, of the rituals of bachelorette parties, even of her best friend's own snark.

36 quotes from Lydia Millet: 'It is not learning we need at all. Individuals need learning but the culture needs something else, the pulse of light on the sea, the warm urge of huddling together to keep out the cold. We need empathy, we need the eyes that still can weep.', 'The rooms of his apartment were full with the dog home again, convalescing.
