Mary Higgins Clark - No Place Like Home

Usually I tend to believe that most authors write their best and most original/unique books in the beginning, but "No Place like Home" is the exception from the rule. Although this is MHC's 28th novel, it's a lot better than many of the books she wrote after her first 5 excellent thrillers (Where are the Children, Stillwatch, A Cry in the Night ...

Summary and reviews of No Place Like Home by Mary Higgins ...

We have chosen to home school our children from China. When adopting older children they really don't fit into one grade, they are combination of many grades (including 2nd in math but Pre-k in reading/phonics). We also feel like we missed out on so many years with our wonderful children, we don't want to miss out on any more!

There's no place like home!

Mary Higgins Clark has really set the bar high with her new riveting novel, NO PLACE LIKE HOME. This book is a gripper, and doesn't let you go. She has made a great book, and is possibly her best since ON THE STREET WHERE YOU LIVE.

Dina I'm married to a boy I met while in Jr. High! We've been married 18 years, had Katie Belle in July 2010 and Jesse Bryant in April 2014. I love to decorate, spend time with family and friends, watch girly movies with some m&m's and Coke, but mostly I love God and know that all my many blessings come from Him.
