Variable costs are costs that change as the quantity of the good or service that a business produces changes. Variable costs are the sum of marginal costs over all units produced. They can also be considered normal costs. Fixed costs and variable costs make up the two components of total cost. Direct costs are costs that can easily be associated with a particular cost object.

The study meta-analytically integrates results from three decades of human capital research in entrepreneurship. Based on 70 independent samples ( $N = 24,733$ ), we found a significant but small relationship between human capital and success ( $r = .098$ ). We examined theoretically derived moderators of this relationship referring to conceptualizations of human capital, to context, and to ...
