P.N. Hoffman, ... S.J. Line, in Decontamination in Hospitals and Healthcare, 2014 24.10 Testing for rinse water contamination. The production, storage and distribution of high-quality water for the final rinse of an EWD cycle can be complex. Weekly bacterial tests will indicate the state of the final rinse water, which should be below a total viable count of 10 colony forming units per 100 ml.

How the proteinogenic amino acids came to be on earth is another crucial question. The famous Miller-Urey experiment from 1952 showed that with electric sparks simulating lightning, simple compounds like water, methane, ammonia and hydrogen would form well over 20 different amino acids. 1 They are also found in meteorites: analysis of the Murichison meteorite, which landed in Australia in ...

Absence of gravity. A "stationary" micro-g environment would require travelling far enough into deep space so as to reduce the effect of gravity by attenuation to almost zero. This is the simplest in conception but requires travelling an enormous distance, rendering it highly impractical.

Panspermia (from Ancient Greek $\pi \tilde{\alpha} \nu$ (pan), meaning 'all', and $\sigma \pi \acute{\epsilon} \rho \mu \alpha$ (sperma), meaning 'seed') is the hypothesis that life exists throughout the Universe, distributed by space dust, meteoroids, asteroids, comets, planetoids, and also by spacecraft carrying unintended contamination by microorganisms. Distribution may have occurred spanning galaxies, and so may not be restricted to the ...

Biology is the "science of life." It is the study of living and once-living things, from submicroscopic structures in single-celled organisms to entire ecosystems with billions of interacting organisms; it further ranges in time focus from a single metabolic reaction inside a cell to the life history of one individual and on to the course of many species over eons of time.
