Pareto efficiency or Pareto optimality is a state of allocation of resources from which it is impossible to reallocate so as to make any one individual or preference criterion better off without making at least one individual or preference criterion worse off. The concept is named after Vilfredo Pareto (1848–1923), Italian engineer and economist, who used the concept in his studies of ...

The travelling salesman problem (TSP) asks the following question: "Given a list of cities and the distances between each pair of cities, what is the shortest possible route that visits each city and returns to the origin city?"It is an NP-hard problem in combinatorial optimization, important in operations research and theoretical computer science. ...

Breastfeeding has many health benefits for both the mother and infant. Breast milk contains all the nutrients an infant needs in the first six months of life. Breastfeeding protects against diarrhoea and common childhood illnesses such as pneumonia, and may also have longer-term health benefits for the mother and child, such as reducing the risk of overweight and obesity in childhood and ...

I am working on Forecasting and Supply Planning for short-life dairy products where the optimal service level is a very important subject. The most interesting and tricky component here is H – the carrying cost and the question of its proper value in practice. For example, for short-life dairy products one of the important part of H should be not only pure financial cost of cash frozen in ...
